Course Description:

This NEW twenty-four hour course has been designed to develop and enhance skills used by administrators, teachers, deans, security officers and School Resource Officers. Although most schools are safe, the violence that occurs in our communities has found its way onto many of our campuses. However, if we understand what leads to violence and work to identify students that are at risk we can intervene before violence occurs. We know that involvement of caring adults and positive role models are effective tools in violence prevention. When schools and law enforcement work together we can make our schools safer. In this course we will discuss best practices that help schools, communities, administrators, teachers, families and students recognize warning signs so students can get the help they need before it is too late.

Core Topics:

- The Role of School-Based Policing and SRO's
- Teaching Conflict Resolution
- Identifying and Working With At Risk Youth
- The Impact of Environmental Safety on Your Campus
- Recent Case Law in School Search and Miranda
- Prevention of Bullying and Harassment
- What is the "Insane Clown Posse"?
- Program Sharing and Best Practices

About Your Instructor:

Dr. James Corbin, the lead instructor for this course, is a retired police officer with fifteen years experience as a School Resource Officer in Orlando, FL. He is nationally recognized as an expert in the areas of school safety, school security and school violence and holds a Ph.D. in Education Administration. Jim has served as a consultant in the development of SRO programs and school safety initiatives across the United States. He has also authored several training manuals that are used to educate law enforcement professionals and school administrators nationally. All attendees will continue to receive support, guidance and mentoring from Corbin & Associates, Inc. after completion of the class. We believe that by providing this additional support we are "Building Relationships That Last a Lifetime".
